Adi Kailash

About:

- Adi Kailash, steeped in mythological significance, stands as one among the revered 'Panch Kailash' peaks, encapsulating sacred spirituality in the heart of the Himalayas.
- Resembling the famed Mount Kailash, it holds deep religious significance, particularly among followers of Hinduism.
- Adi Kailash stands tall at an elevation of about 5,966 meters and is known for its challenging trekking trails.
- Pilgrims undertake a strenuous journey to circumambulate the peak, a ritual similar to the Kailash Mansarovar Yatra.
- The surrounding landscape is adorned with lush greenery, alpine meadows, and panoramic views of the Himalayas, making Adi Kailash not only a sacred site but also a haven for nature enthusiasts.

Om Parvat

- Om Parvat, also known as Adi Kailash's twin peak, is another sacred mountain situated in the Pithoragarh district of Uttarakhand.
- The distinctiveness of Om Parvat lies in the naturally occurring symbol of "Om" (ॐ) formed by snow deposits on its rocky face. This sacred syllable holds great significance in Hinduism, representing the essence of the ultimate reality.
- Pilgrims undertake treks to witness this divine symbol, and the surrounding Himalayan terrain adds to the spiritual and visual allure of the region.

Both Adi Kailash and Om Parvat attract spiritual seekers, trekkers, and adventure enthusiasts alike. These peaks not only offer a unique blend of religious significance but also provide a gateway to some of the most pristine and captivating landscapes in the Himalayas. The journey to these sacred peaks is not merely a physical endeavor but a spiritual odyssey, allowing visitors to connect with the divine in the serene and majestic ambiance of the high Himalayas.

आदि कैलाश जाने वाले पर्यटकों के लिए एडवेंचर हे तो साथ में यात्रा के दौरान दुर्गम रास्तों में जान का खतरा भी। यहां का सफर बेहद खतरनाक है और हर कदम पर मौत घात लगाये बैठी रहती है। जो यात्रा कर सुरक्षित वापस आ जाता है वह भोलेनाथ का धन्यवाद करता रहता है।

For Mt Kailash 'darshan': PM visit to revive interest in 'viewing spot'

Tourism officials in Uttarakhand are hoping to revive the viewing point near the Tibetan border called Old Lipu, which offers a majestic view of Mount Kailash in Tibet. The spot can be reached after a steep climb and is the only place in Uttarakhand where visitors can see Mount Kailash without entering China. The officials are considering developing the area so that devotees can have a glimpse of the sacred mountain, especially as the Kailash Mansarovar yatra has been suspended due to the Covid-19 pandemic.
